SYCAMORE CANYON

OPENING AND WIDENING ONE OF MOST IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS EVER MADE HERE

The improvement of Sycamore Canyon is one of the most important opening and widening proceedings the city has ever had.

The street will extend from near the junction of Scholl Canyon and Sycamore Canyon Road southwest across Verdugo and Wilson Avenue and Broadway just west of the Broadway school, running south along what is known as the Childs tract line, which is about 600 feet east of and parallel with Adams Street, to a short distance below Windsor Road, the whole distance being nearly two miles.

A portion of the street north of Broadway will be 80 feet in width and south of Broadway it will be 100 feet in width. Ultimately it will connect with Palmer Avenue at the intersection of Adams Street.

The district to be assessed for the cost of opening and widening includes nearly all of that portion of the city of Glendale, not including what was formerly Tropico, east of Glendale Avenue and north to the vicinity of Oakwood.

The street was planned to provide three very important improvements for the section in which it is located: first, a means of carrying the storm waters of Sycamore Canyon through the district; second, a boulevard connecting Sycamore Canyon and all the cross streets in this section; and, third, a right-of-way for an extension of the Pacific Electric line from its present terminus on East Broadway to a junction with the main line at Brand, somewhere in the vicinity of Cypress Avenue.

A committee has in charge the matter of working out and recommending a plan for the extension of the boulevard from the terminus of the street in accordance with the present proceedings, following in a general southwesterly direction to a junction with Brand at the point mentioned. This project was started some two years ago, but has been held in abeyance during the last eight months on account of war conditions. The hearing on the assessment roll was postponed from time to time by the board of trustees as a means of delaying the proceedings until such time as it was deemed advisable to take it up again, and at the meeting last night it was decided to go ahead with the proceedings, and the next step will be the collection of the assessments by the street superintendent, official notification of which will appear in the Glendale Evening News in a few days.

The total damages awarded in connection with the opening and widening of the Canyon Road were $35,932. The cost of the proceedings thus far has been $2,238.35, making a total amount to be raised in the district of $38,160.36.

The assessments will be due within thirty days after the first publication of the official notice. The assessment roll is now in the city clerk's office and later will be in the hands of the street superintendent.

SOUVENIRS FROM UNCLE SAM

After some effort the local board of exemption has succeeded in getting blanks for the pay of the 85 men who were mustered into service here Nov. 10 and mustered out again Nov. 11 when the armistice was signed. They had made all their preparations to go to Kelly Field, Texas. Many had disposed of all their personal property, had given away surplus clothing to the Red Cross; some had rented their ranches and homes. The government will pay them for their two days' service. The vouchers were forwarded by the board Friday night. They will be like little Christmas presents from Uncle Sam, just souvenirs of war service, which some of the men may want to frame.

"LIVE COLE" CHRISTMAS

About thirty young people enjoyed the Christmas party of the "Live Cole Class" given at the home of the president, Miss Birdie Shropshire, 245 South Everett Street. There was a brief business session, at which officers were elected as follows:

President, Miss Birdie Shropshire.
Vice president, Homer Miller.
Secretary and treasurer, Miss Bessie Jeter.

Games of various kinds furnished the entertainment of the evening, and after the serving of refreshments a surprise was sprung on the company when sleigh bells were heard, followed by a knock at the door. When opened by the hostess a basket was handed in which contained a Christmas letter for each guest from Santa Claus.

TELLS OF WAR'S END

RALPH PROCTOR HEARS LAST GUN FIRED—SAYS HE WILL NEVER "LINE UP" AGAIN

How it seems to a soldier to witness the end of a great war is vividly set forth in the following letter from Private Ralph R. Proctor, addressed to his brother, R. C. Proctor of Orange Street, this city:

November 12, 1918.

Dear Riley: Well, yesterday I had the pleasure of listening to the artillery fire gradually die out between 10 and 11 o'clock. When a lad came along with some high officer in his car and leaned out as he passed and told us it was over, we stood and looked at him for a minute until the car rounded a corner. We had heard so many reports about the end and had been shaken a bit by bombs a couple of nights before, so we hadn't been expecting to hear it was over.

Tonight the country around here looks like the evening of July 4 at Venice. The lads have a lot of German flare pistols and flare cartridges and they are sure burning them up. It is pretty, all right; they are red, green and white. Also there are a lot of rockets going up of all colors. This is a happy bunch all right.

I am hoping to get back by Easter at least. If we go back in the order we came over we will be there inside of three months, I believe, but we in the Engineers are a little uncertain as to what will be done with us. However, the fact that some day we will be going is pretty good news.

Well, Riley, I guess we will be able to take a few more of those trips to the beach and so on next summer. In one of your last letters you suggested a trip in a Ford. Say, I don't care whether I go by airplane, submarine, boat, horse and buggy, afoot or by automobile, just so I am able to travel around Los Angeles once again. Now that it is over, I will be perfectly frank with you and say that home looks pretty good to me and has for some time past.

You should see some of the propaganda Jerry dropped on us the last two weeks. It all advised us all to desert and come over to them to to spend the rest of the war in peace and quiet. They told how nice their prison camps were and everything, and went on to explain that we would all get killed if we didn't accept the invitation. I wonder what sort of a gang they think we are anyhow?

The Y. M. C. A. got in here today with a lot of chocolate and things. Am glad to think I won't be the 110th man in line to pay 20c for a 5c bar of chocolate much longer. I can imagine a lot of husky young tramps lining up to buy chocolate one year from now. I will never get in a line of more than two persons again for anything, when I get home, even is some bird was giving $100 bills away. Ever since that morning I got up at 4 a. m. to get in line to enlist, I have been lining up for something at least four times a day. We have a lot of leisure time in the army, but it is all spent lining up for something or other.

The Germans provided for my comfort very well here, leaving me a bed, table and benches. A sharp axe and even a couple of arm loads of dry kindling were at hand, also some coal was handy. On the stove is some German's mess kit with water in it heating for a shave soon, out of a German wash basin. Thoughtful of them, wasn't it?

Well, Riley, a paper came in today saying we would be on our way home or home by Christmas. Here's hoping. I don't think it will be many months, anyhow. Can Lois make candy as good as ever?

Your brother,
RALPH.

MASONIC TEMPLE

The third degree will be conferred tonight at the Masonic Temple. A large turnout is expected, as several members of the order are coming from Long Beach and San Pedro to witness the degree conferred on one of their fellow employes.

This will probably be the last meeting for 1918, as the next two meetings fall on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve. Brother McBain, our noted chef, will officiate at the banquet table following the meeting, and promises that we will not go away without our appetites thoroughly satisfied. All Master Masons are cordially invited to attend.

A CHRISTMAS TREAT

Messrs. Henry and Brown, manufacturers of the Sierra Club beverages are giving their employes a Christmas treat by taking them to Los Angeles for a dinner and theater party. Their guests will be Messrs. Soper, Dow, McMullin and Jaacks.

NO POISON FOUND IN STOMACH

DEATH OF FRANK GIBSON SAID TO BE DUE TO TUBERCULAR HEMORRHAGE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Los Angeles, Dec. 21.—City Chemist Maas reports that no poison has been found in the stomach of Frank Gibbons, husband of Mrs. Gertrude Gibbons, accused of poisoning him. According to the autopsy surgeon's diagnosis, death resulted from a tubercular hemorrhage. He discovered a blood clot in one lung.

At the office of the district attorney denial was made that there would be a woman prosecutor of Mrs. Wilson.

GERMAN FOREIGN MINISTER

FLEET SIGHTED OFF THE ESTHONIAN COAST AND THE BOLSHEVIKI ARE RETURNING FROM WESSENBERG

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Copenhagen, Dec. 21.—Count Brochdorff has been appointed German foreign minister to Denmark, according to Berlin dispatches.

Copenhagen, Dec. 21.—A Swedish fleet has appeared off the Esthonian coast, according to a Konigsburg dispatch. The Bolsheviki are reported to be returning from Wessenberg.

BENRSTORFF FAVORS LEAGUE OF NATIONS

SAYS HE HAS BEEN IN SYMPATHY WITH IDEA SINCE IT WAS VOICED BY WILSON IN 1915

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Berlin, Dec. 21.—The Germans feel that their political salvation depends upon the league of nations and have confidence that President Wilson has the ability to bring it about, Count Bernstorff declared in an optimistic interview today. He protests that he was not implicated in any conspiracy in the United States and says he attempted to prevent a break between the United States and Germany.

A German league has been formed of all parties, which, it is said, includes Ebert, Haase, Prince Max and Bernstorff, as well as other prominent men.

Bernstorff asserts that he has been in sympathy with the league of nations idea ever since Wilson's speech regarding it in 1915, but that Germany was not agreeable to it at that time.

HE WILL NOT DEFINE ISSUES

PRESIDENT WILSON DECLINES TO SET FORTH THE PURPOSES OF THE PEACE CONFERENCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paris, Dec. 21.—In an interview with a representative of the London Times, President Wilson today declared that "the man on the street" can tell as well as he the purpose of the peace conference; that he believes there is enough wisdom to be found among the statesmen assembled to safeguard the world against future wars. He said that he came to Europe because the issues were of overwhelming importance to the United States, saying: "By personal counsel with Allied statesmen I can assist in attaining this great purpose."

President Wilson wishes to visit the American army in Belgium, Italy and England, and regrets being unable to visit the grand fleet.

"CAPTIVATING AND ATTRACTIVE"

SENATOR LODGE THUS CHARACTERIZES LEAGUE OF NATIONS, BUT QUESTIONS PRACTICABILITY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Dec. 21.—In a speech in the Senate today, Senator Lodge called the league of nations "captivating and attractive," but questioned its practicability, declaring "it tends to embarrass Germany." The peace treaty should include, according to Lodge, indemnity to the United States, reparation to Belgium, the return of Alsace-Lorraine to France, the return of Italia-Irredenta, the settlement of the Balkan problem, the establishment of an international protectorate for Constantinople, the independence of Poland, the return to Schleswig to Denmark, and the neutrality of the Kiel canal.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S PROGRAM

WILL VISIT ARMY HEADQUARTERS THE 24TH, THEN GO TO ENGLAND AND RETURN TO PARIS THE 30TH

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paris, Dec. 21.—President Wilson will return to Paris from England Dec. 30, for the final preliminaries of the peace conference.

Dec. 24 the presidential party will go to American army headquarters, then to a channel port, and cross in a warship. The President will dine with King George at Buckingham Palace the afternoon of Dec. 26. While in England he will visit Guild Hall, Lancaster and also Carlisle, which is his mother's birthplace, returning then to London and Paris.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

IT IS SHOWN BY THE GLENDALE CHILDREN IN GIFTS MADE TO THE RED CROSS

The secretary of the Glendale Chapter of the Red Cross is just in receipt of a most interesting letter with an enclosure of $3.00 from the "Patriotic Club of Glendale," which is composed of children and which issues a little publication called the R. S. P. Monthly. All the members are under 14 years of age and the membership roll includes the following boys and girls: Winifred E. Parker, Norman H. Dewes, Shirley Chase, Caroline J. Ayers, Robert N. Ayars, Alice Ayars, Eugene Wernette, Donald J. Stone, Billie Halstead, Margaret Monroe Wilson, Charles Bosserman, Lyman W. Bosserman, Margaret Sisse and Marceline Larneaux. Their letter is as follows:

"We have much pleasure in sending the enclosed $3 as a small Christmas donation from our little club which has been meeting during the summer months. (Signed)

"W. E. PARKER, Pres."

That the Christmas spirit is animating the hearts of Glendale children has been demonstrated to the chapter officials in other ways. Yesterday two children brought in a broken doll and some doll's clothing which they wanted to pass on to some other child. A girl not over 12 years of age brought in a child's cap and coat which she had made herself and which she wanted some other child to have.

A fine plan had been made to organize Junior Red Cross workers for a very active Christmas campaign, but the influenza ban and closing of schools put an end to the project.

CONGREGATIONAL WOMEN'S MEETINGS

There was a fine attendance at the joint sessions of the Woman's Auxiliary and Woman's Missionary Societies of the Glendale Congregational Church Thursday. At the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, held in the morning, officers were elected, as follows:

President, Mrs. Blake Franklin.
Vice president, Mrs. G. F. Colson.
Secretary, Mrs. J. Bellue.
Treasurer, Mrs. A. H. Chapman.

A luncheon was served at noon and was followed by the meeting of the Missionary Society, at which officers were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke.
Vice president, Mrs. M. J. Miner.
Secretary, Mrs. B. E. Price.
Treasurer, Mrs. W D. McRae.
Chairman of programs Mrs. H. W. Yarick.

The program which followed the election began with a negro dialect number by Mrs. G. F. Colson. Mrs. McRae read a newspaper clipping describing the heroic part played by an Indian in one of the last battles of the war. The chief item, however, was the "mock" or supposed session of the union executive board of the Woman's Home Missionary Union of Southern California. The six women who took part represented the different officers and discussed plans of work for the year, commenting on the different items for which help was asked and telling about the work along various lines. It was exceedingly interesting and gave the audience a clear idea of what the money donated for home mission work is going to do.

The retiring president Mrs. George Adams, then gave a little talk in which she reviewed the work of the organization during her two years of service and at the conclusion of her remarks a rising vote of thank was given her by the society the session closing with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds"

IN MEMORIAM

J. Morton Freeman, born Oct. 12, 1850, in Boston, Mass., left this present life Dec. 20, 1918, at 8 a. m. Mr. Freeman was afflicted with disease of the stomach which baffled the physicians. He came to California thirty years ago, being a resident of Glendale for about twelve years. He was married to Ida M. Shick, Nov. 11, 1900, in Phoenix, Ariz. Two children were the result of this union—a son, Verne M. Freeman, now in the U. S. army, located at evacuation hospital No. 17, Siberia, A. E. F.; and Hazel Freeman, now in the Glendale High School. Mr. Freeman was well known to all the business men of Glendale. He gave testimony many times to his faith in God. He died a victorious death, trusting the Lord.

The funeral will be held at the Jewel City undertaking parlors, Monday, Dec. 23, at 10 a. m., and will be conducted by Elmer K. Fisher, Pentecostal minister.

A NOBLE WOMAN

O. L. KILBORN'S REMINISCENCES OF LIFE OF MRS. JULIET STRAUSS

A brief notice in a recent issue of the Ladies' Home Journal carried sorrow into thousands of homes all over this broad land where for years past the mothers and young daughters had read from month to month the wise, kindly letters of "The Country Contributor." To most of these readers she was a personal friend, and the announcement that Mrs. Juliet V. Strauss would never again wield her magic pen was a blow to all.

Memory carries we back more than thirty years to the time when I first heard of Mrs. Strauss, not then known outside of the limited circle of readers of a little country weekly newspaper. I was then editor of a newspaper in Marshall, Ill., and a former schoolmate of mine, who frequently visited relatives in Rockville, Ind., told me of a new friend he had found there, one "Ike" Strauss, who, in partnership with John Beadle, conducted the Rockville Tribune. Beadle, by the way, whom I afterward met, was an old man, lame and with an eye missing as a result of fooling with the woman buzz-saw. He went out to investigate the polygamists on their own grounds and sent back reports to eastern papers that led to his being mobbed by the infuriated women and being left for dead. He was taken in by a pitying woman victim of the bestial creed, nursed back to partial health and enabled to escape. He afterward wrote a book on the Mormons and their murderous, lecherous doings that helped to rouse the nation to action against their practices. Strauss was the active manager of the paper and was a local writer of considerable ability. I was talking with my schoolmate friend one day and he said: "Oh, Ike is all right as a newspaper man, but his wife is the brains of the family. You ought to read some of her writings." So I took to reading the articles in the Tribune signed "Juliet V. Strauss," and soon came to the same conclusion that had been expressed by my friend. Ike Strauss called on me in my newspaper office some time after and he proved to be quite a pleasant young fellow, tall and slender and typically Jewish in appearance and action. He had rather a scoffing way of talking, as if he really believed in nothing good. My friend had hinted at a lack of sympathy between husband and wife and I could easily believe him after meeting Ike, for her grave, deep, sympathetic nature could have little in common with one as volatile as he. When, years afterward, I learned that "The Country Contributor" of the Ladies' Home Journal was Mrs. Juliet V. Strauss of Rockville, Ind., I remembered the impression made on me by her earlier writings and could easily understand how she had gained her enviable place in the affections of the wide circle of readers of the popular magazine. Her home life was lovely. I never knew the history of her marriage, but she was not a Jewess and her manner of life was not that of her husband. Many of her pent-up longings found expression in her monthly letters to the magazine and many of her readers wondered at the keen insight which searched out their very heart-throbs of disappointment and sorrow. O. L. KILBORN.

DEATH OF MRS. JANE P. BUTLER

Wednesday, Dec. 17, occurred the death of Mrs. Jane P. Butler of 123 East Elk Avenue, in her eighty-third year, after an illness of two weeks.

Mrs. Butler was a lifelong member of the Methodist Church and her religion a practical, every-day one. The keynote of her character being unselfishness, her life was so filled with good deeds that her loss will be deeply felt.

She is survived by one daughter, Miss Frances Ungles, and two nieces, Mrs. Walter H. Nicoles and Miss Virginia B. Worth, all of Glendale; and one nephew, Edward C. Worth of Los Angeles. Dr. Locke of Los Angeles, of whose church she was a member, conducted the services, which were held at Hollywood chapel. Interment at Hollywood Cemetery.

Mrs. L. B. Simon has been made very happy by the receipt of a telegram from New York announcing the arrival of her son, Corporal Sidney Simon, with the 143rd Field Artillery. A similar message has come to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Beach of North Brand Boulevard concerning their son, J. T. Beach. It is feared the boys will not be able to reach Southern California by Christmas, but the fact that they are on the way home makes a joyful Christmas for their relatives.

Personals

Rev. W. J. Marsh has returned from a business trip to Yorba Linda.

Miss Alice Dewey of Pasadena is a holiday guest of Mrs. Samuel Ayers of Central Avenue.

Murray Black, a resident of Los Angeles but well known in Glendale, has been invalided home to the Letterman Hospital in San Francisco.

C. W. Houston of Myrtle Street and his daughters, Elizabeth and Dorothy, are convalescent from attacks of influenza.

Mrs. Livingston of Myrtle Street, and her children, have gone to Coalinga to spend the holidays with her parents who reside there.

Walter Trautwein of Franklin Court has just been added to the Glendale police force as patrol and traffic officer.

Fred Wilson and Wilbur Lee, both of whom were graduated from Glendale High School last year, have been discharged from the S. A. T. C. and are now at home.

Miss Marjorie Imler surprised her family this morning when she arrived from Berkeley, where she is a student at the State University, to spend the holidays at her home, Palm Villa.

The special rings and pins ordered by the senior class of Glendale Union High are here and are very attractive. The pins are round with the letters G. U. H. in relief.

William Cronin of 401 Milford street, who has been at the naval training station at San Francisco since last August, is expected home for a Christmas furlough.

Lieut. D. W. Nicoles, who has been stationed at San Pedro, has received his honorable discharge from the army and is now in the employ of the Sunset Telephone Co. in Los Angeles.

The Christmas party for children of members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, which was to have been given at the home of the president of the club, Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, has been called off on account of the influenza embargo.

Rev. E. Harry Hadlock will preach at the Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning. Mr. Hadlock is connected with the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. and expects to sail for France in a short time to take a message to the boys over there and visit points of interest on the war front.

W. D. McRae, who is secretary of county work for the Y. M. C. A., has just returned from a weeks' absence in the north, in which he has been organizing Yolo County for Y. M. C. A. work. He will be at home for the holidays.

Pomona College at Claremont having been closed on account of influenza, Miss Carol Willisford has come to Glendale to spend her holidays, and will be the week-end guest of Mrs. Blake Franklin and family. Mrs. Willisford and her daughter, Joy, are in the east. They look for an early cablegram from Dr. Willisford relative to his return.

Congregationalists are looking forward to their Christmas cantata, "Star of Bethlehem," to be sung by the church choir, assisted by Mr. Westervelt and Miss Gladys Stewart, Sunday morning, to take the place of the regular service and occupy all the time except for a short Christmas sermonette by the acting pastor, Rev. W. J. Marsh.

Walton, Helen and Rose John of Los Angeles, aged 1, 3 and 5, respectively, are week-end guests of Mrs. Ella Richardson, who is being assisted in their entertainment by little Miss Gwendoline Shattuck. These youthful guests are very much interested in the Christmas preparations that are in progress at the Richardson home. Mrs. Richardson is also entertaining Louis Freidhein, Jr., of the U. S. navy hospital corps of San Diego. She will keep open house as usual Sunday for service men and other friends.

A REAL GIFT

What could you present to your wife for Christmas that would show your love for her half as much as that increased protection you have promised yourself for her, some time, in the form of another insurance policy payable in monthly income?

Would anything give you half the real comfort that this would afford?

You know you have a shudder every time you think of the possibility of having to leave her with your affairs in the tangled condition which they are in at the present time, because you know that if your estate had to be wound up, there would be a sad shrinkage.

Besides protecting her you will also be setting aside for old age and a rainy day. See me about this. "There is no substitute."

E. U. Emery of this city is in receipt of one of "Dad's Christmas letters," written Nov. 24 (Father's Day) by his son, Owen. He wrote that he was well and said the indications were that they would be home by Feb. 1 at the latest; that they were in Belgium and constantly on the move.

After receiving a telegram dated Sept. 29, stating that her son had been seriously wounded across the water, Mrs. Acosta, who lives south of the city just over the line in Los Angeles, has received a letter from the son, dated Nov. 9, assuring her that he is well, and although he has been at the front five times, he has come through without a scratch.

Mrs. A. A. Roach of the Boyle Heights District, Los Angeles, daughter of Mrs. S. J. Mosher of this city, will entertain the members of her family and near relatives with a Christmas dinner party, at which covers will be laid for about fifty. Ensign Frank Mosher of the hydro-airplane service is coming from the east for the holidays and will be with her as a guest. His wife came west a few weeks ago and is with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Scherer of Pasadena.

Young Pfeiffer, son of Henry Pfeiffer, had a narrow escape yesterday when the bicycle on which he was riding was run down by an automobile driven by Mrs. NcNary and the rear wheel was crushed. He escaped without injury and Mrs. McNary volunteered to pay for the repair of the "bike," though she was not responsible for the accident, according to bystanders. She had held out her hand as a signal that she was about to make the turn in front of the Glendale Savings Bank, and the boy was not paying attention and so was run into.

CARD OF THANKS

There is great joy in two Glendale homes, the families of George E. F. Duffet of 321 Vine Street and of Frank Leslie of 359 Pioneer Drive, for word has been received that Andrew Kellher, brother of Mrs. Leslie and Mrs. Duffet, has come home from overseas and will be with them for the Christmas holidays. He has been with the 82nd Aero Squadron. He enlisted more than a year ago and has had responsible work in connection with that branch of the service, it being a part of his duty to install and test the motors used in the planes. He was disappointed that his service was cut short before he got into the dying corps, but is glad the war is over. He is now at Camp Kearny and will be home Sunday. There will be a Christmas party and family reunion to celebrate the happy event.

A PERSONAL CHRISTMAS

The pastor of the Presbyterian Church suggests the following Christmas meditation to the members of his congregation, based on Luke 2: 10-11: "I bring you good tidings of great joy." "For unto you is born a Saviour." The question for each several soul, then, is this: Is Christmas to me vital with the life and love of Christ? Have I a personal share in the Bethlehem joy? Have the Advent messages read themselves into the inmost feelings of my heart? Unless Christmas be in us there is no real Christmas for us. The thing is interior, or not at all. Carols, anthems, glees, decorations, remembrances, feastings and the like do not make Christmas, but only express a Christmas that should be already a personally realized spiritual fact.

"O Holy Child of Bethlehem,
Descend to me, I pray;
Cast out my sin and enter in,
Be born in me today."

THRICE WELCOME, BOYS

Every incoming train is bringing the soldier boys from training camps and other war centers. Soon the boys will be reaching home from overseas. Many of them have already arrived in New York and some of them are speeding their way across the continent with the hope of spending Christmas at their California homes. Thrice welcome, boys; we are glad to see you back.

These young men left a year or more ago from all avocations of life, many of them giving up lucrative positions, and now, as they return, it is the patriotic duty of everyone who remained at home to sensibly give these young men a preference that is worth while in all channels of business. They are not going to expect anything unreasonable, but we who remained at home will do all possible in behalf of the men who bravely went to the front and did their country's bidding.

Do not dispose of your Liberty bonds unless it be for a home. Do without some imagined personal need and save the bond for a rainy day. Your Liberty loan bond is the safest investment you ever made.

President Wilson believes there is no place in the sun for the Bolshevik and has recommended that they be outlawed by every nation that believes in law and order and justice.
